

synvert xgeeks at KCD Porto 2026

Branding and Booth Plan | Internal team briefing

19 + 20 Nov 2026
Super Bock Arena / Palacio de Cristal

Two communities
One landmark event

All eyes will be on us

We created, we run and we shape Iberia's most relevant Cloud Native + DevOps event. In 2026 we host it.

- 2026 is the landmark edition. KCD Porto joins forces with DevOps Days Portugal, and synvert xgeeks is the legal entity behind both.
- 500+ attendees, 150+ companies, 50+ speakers and 20+ sponsors will watch how the host shows up. We are not one more booth in the foyer.
- The whole venue is our stage: the foyer is a mandatory passage area, the lounge, the rooms and the coffee are ours to brand.
- This deck is the plan for how we show up: booth, venue branding and the CTO's Dinner.

Brand exposure

Visible in every corner of the venue, on stage, on screens and around every neck.

Business development

Qualified conversations with decision-makers from 150+ companies, on our home turf.

Hiring, where relevant 500+ engineers and architects seeing us as the employer of choice in Cloud Native.

Everyone coming from GL, Hitachi and Synvert has to walk in and feel that this conference is effectively ours.

The numbers we are playing for Three figures the whole team should know by heart

Sponsors

Companies exhibiting inside our event, next to our booth. We are the host of all of them.

20-30

Qualified conversations

Decision-makers from the 150+ companies in the room, out of 500+ attendees. The reach figure in the KCD Porto 2026 business case.

10+

Qualified leads

Our target from the whole event: booth, lounge, hallway and the CTO's Dinner combined.

HOW THE FUNNEL READS

Three pillars to get there

Everything in this plan falls under one of these

01 The Booth

Our stand sits at the entrance of the venue. Bigger, rebranded, with two tables, two screens and a reason to stop.

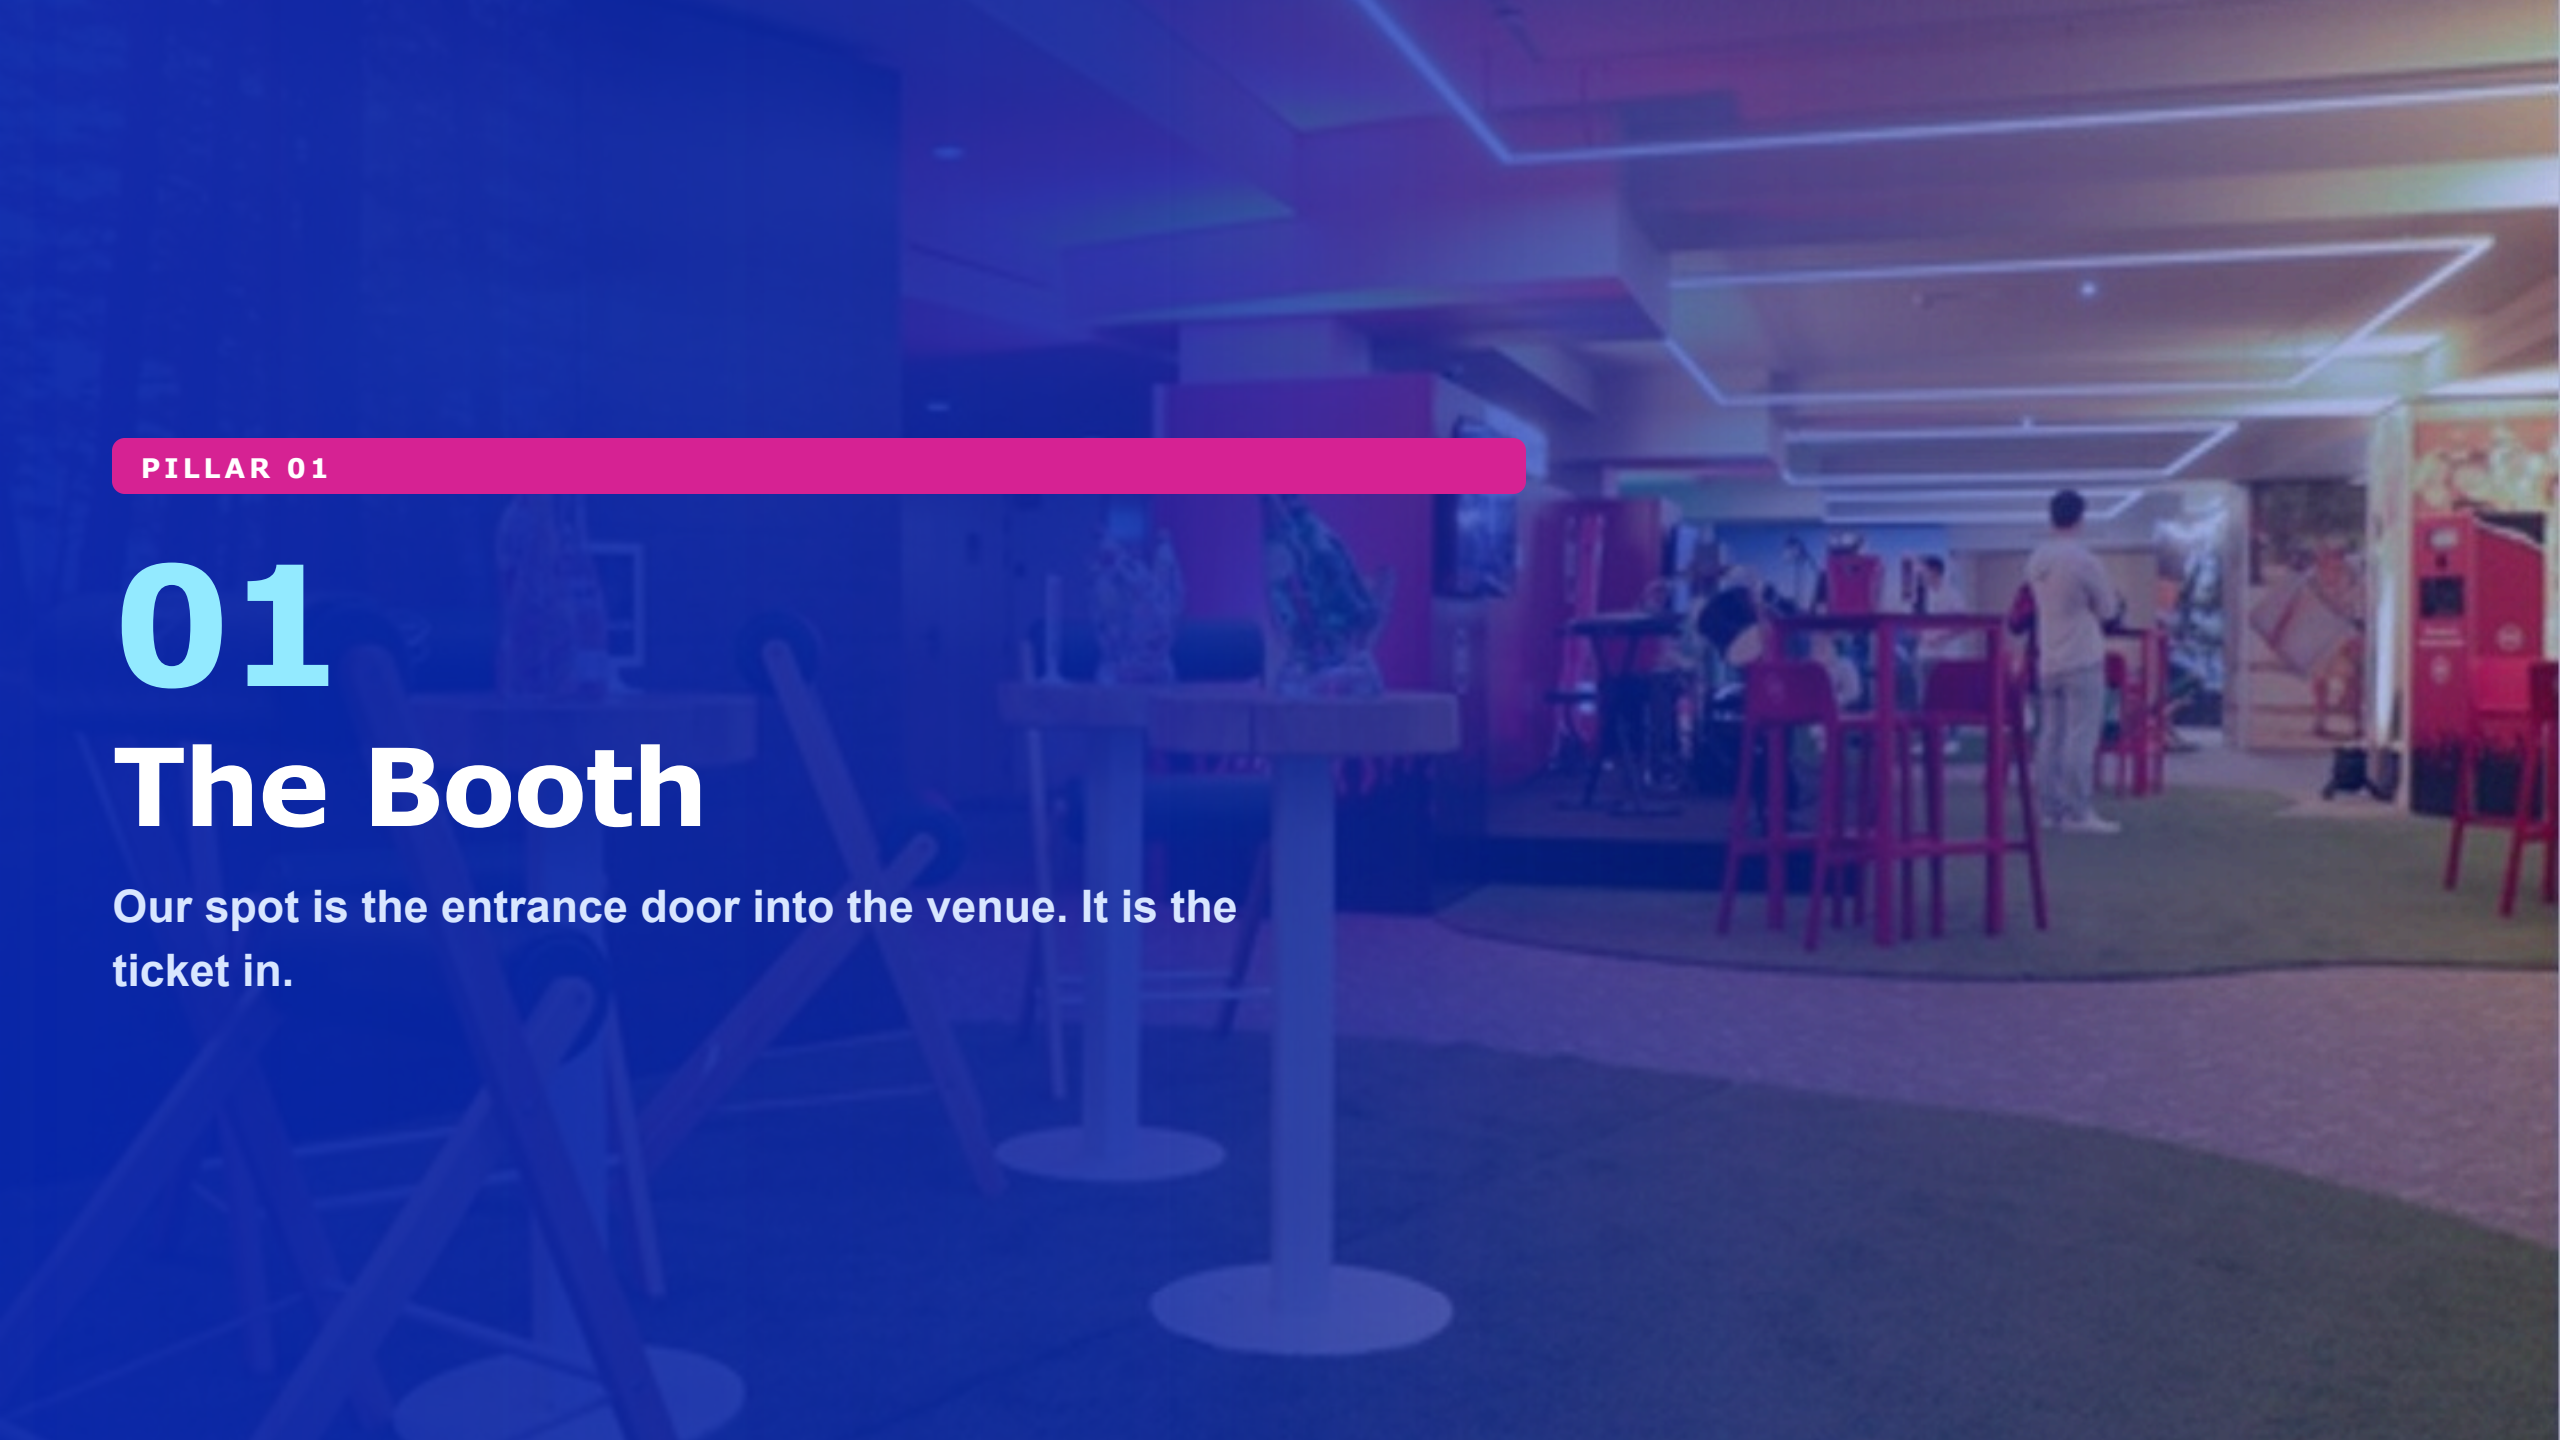

02 Branding across the venue

Check-in, rooms, lounge, wifi, lanyards, coffee, water and merch. Every sponsor asset we do not sell, we use ourselves.

03 CTO's Dinner

The official welcome dinner on day one, sponsored by synvert xgeeks. The highest-value room of the whole event.

The background image shows a modern interior space, likely a lounge or bar. It features several red cylindrical pillars and matching red high-top stools. The ceiling has exposed ductwork and linear lighting fixtures. In the foreground, there are white high-top stools and a white table. The overall atmosphere is contemporary and vibrant.

PILLAR 01

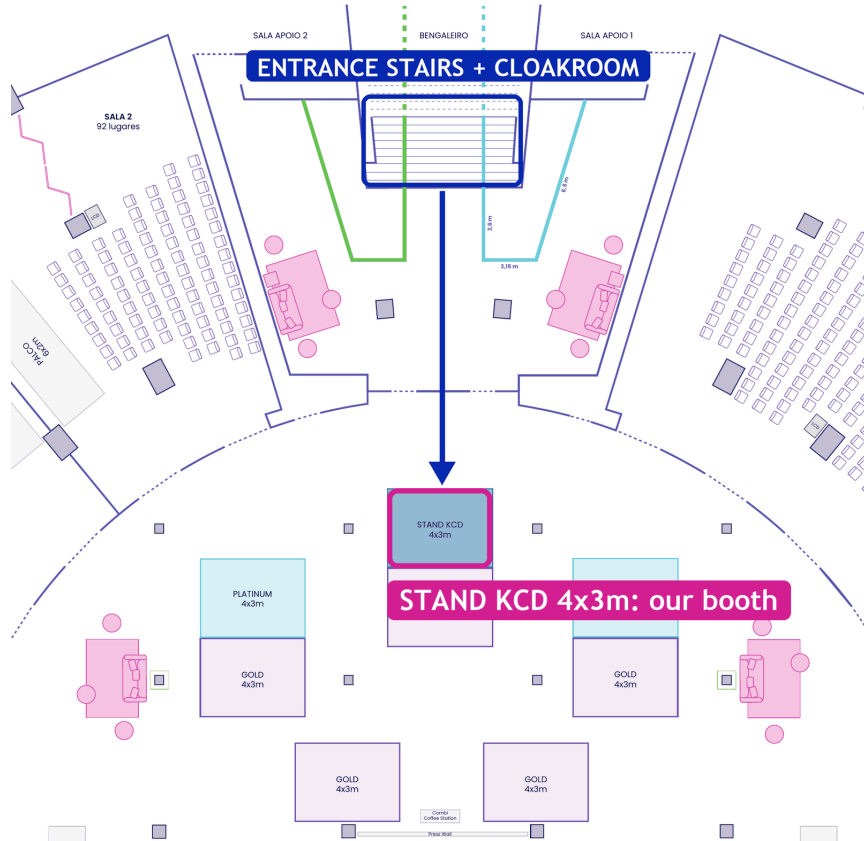

01

The Booth

Our spot is the entrance door into the venue. It is the ticket in.

Our spot is the entrance door

Official venue plan, Piso -1 (05/2026). Highlighted: Stand KCD, 4x3m.

- Attendees come down the entrance stairs, pass the cloakroom and land directly in front of our stand.
- It is the first and the last thing every single attendee sees, on both days.
- The foyer is a mandatory passage to the auditorium and the side rooms. Platinum and Gold sponsors sit behind and beside us.
- We hold the best position in the venue. It has to look like the host's booth, not one more sponsor stand.

This spot is practically the entrance door.
It is the ticket in.

Reuse smart, print cheap

Last year's booth is a strong base. We rebrand it instead of buying everything new

Our booth at KCD Porto 2025, foyer of the Super Bock Arena

1 Reuse the backdrop

The structure and the print still work. We print a cover strip over the part that says "synvert" and place the new identity there: synvert xgeeks, a Synvert GL Company.

2 New TV frame, cheaper

New print, new design, simple structure, low cost.

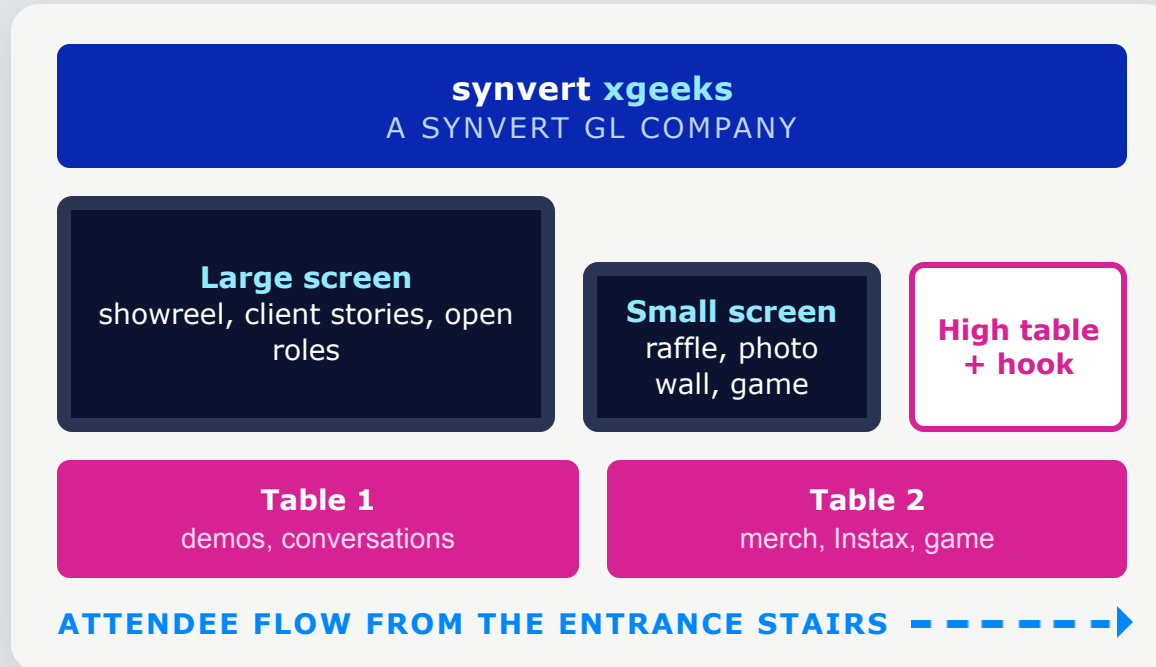

3 New table front panels for two tables

Not one. Two panels sized for two tables, new print, new design, low cost.

Principle: spend on presence and dynamics, not on rebuying structures that still work.

Front row deserves real presence

The entry point booth needs to be bigger than last year

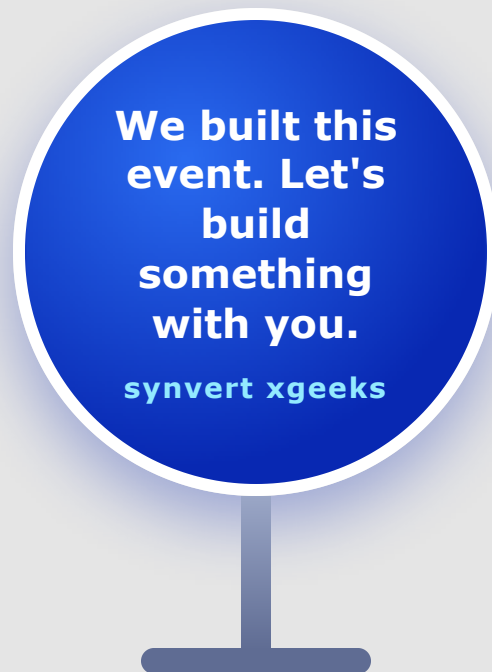

Working sketch, front view. To refine with the venue.

- Two tables instead of one: more surface for demos, merch and conversations without blocking the flow.
- Possibly two screens, one large and one small, running different content at the same time: the large one for the showreel and client stories, the small one for the raffle, photo wall and games.
- A high table with a conversation hook printed on it, so people know what to talk to us about (next slide).
- Goal: a booth that reads as the host's booth, with real presence at the front.

Open with the venue: the plan marks 4x3m for Stand KCD. As the organiser we can widen the footprint or use the space in front of it. Confirm the exact size before we order prints.

A conversation hook on the high table

One line printed on the table top tells people what to talk to us about. Pick one per angle, or one per table

Business angle

A Let's chat about how we can help you grow your business

Original proposal

B We built this event. Let's build something with you.

Suggested: the event itself is the proof point

C Cloud, data, AI. Tell us what's slowing you down.

D Need more engineers on your roadmap? Let's talk.

Technical angle

A Let's grab a coffee and talk engineering

Original proposal

B Bring your architecture diagram. We'll bring the questions.

Suggested: peer to peer, no coffee promised at the booth

C Strong opinions, loosely held. Come talk Kubernetes.

D Swap on-call war stories with people who've been paged too.

Suggested: one hook per table, business angle on the table facing the stairs, technical angle on the table facing the foyer.

Booth dynamics: a reason to stop

Traffic is guaranteed by the location. Engagement is up to us

Instax corner

Instant camera with an xgeeks photo frame. Photos go to our social channels tagging the people in them, so they reshare.

Games for giveaways

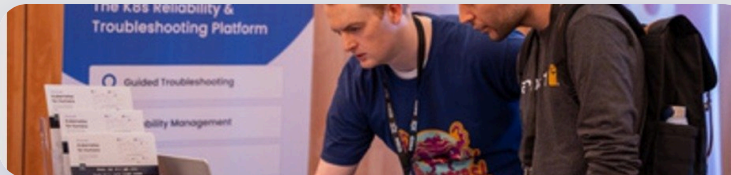

Quick games with merch as prizes. Last year's raffle worked. This year: a wheel of fortune, a leaderboard challenge or a claw-style pick.

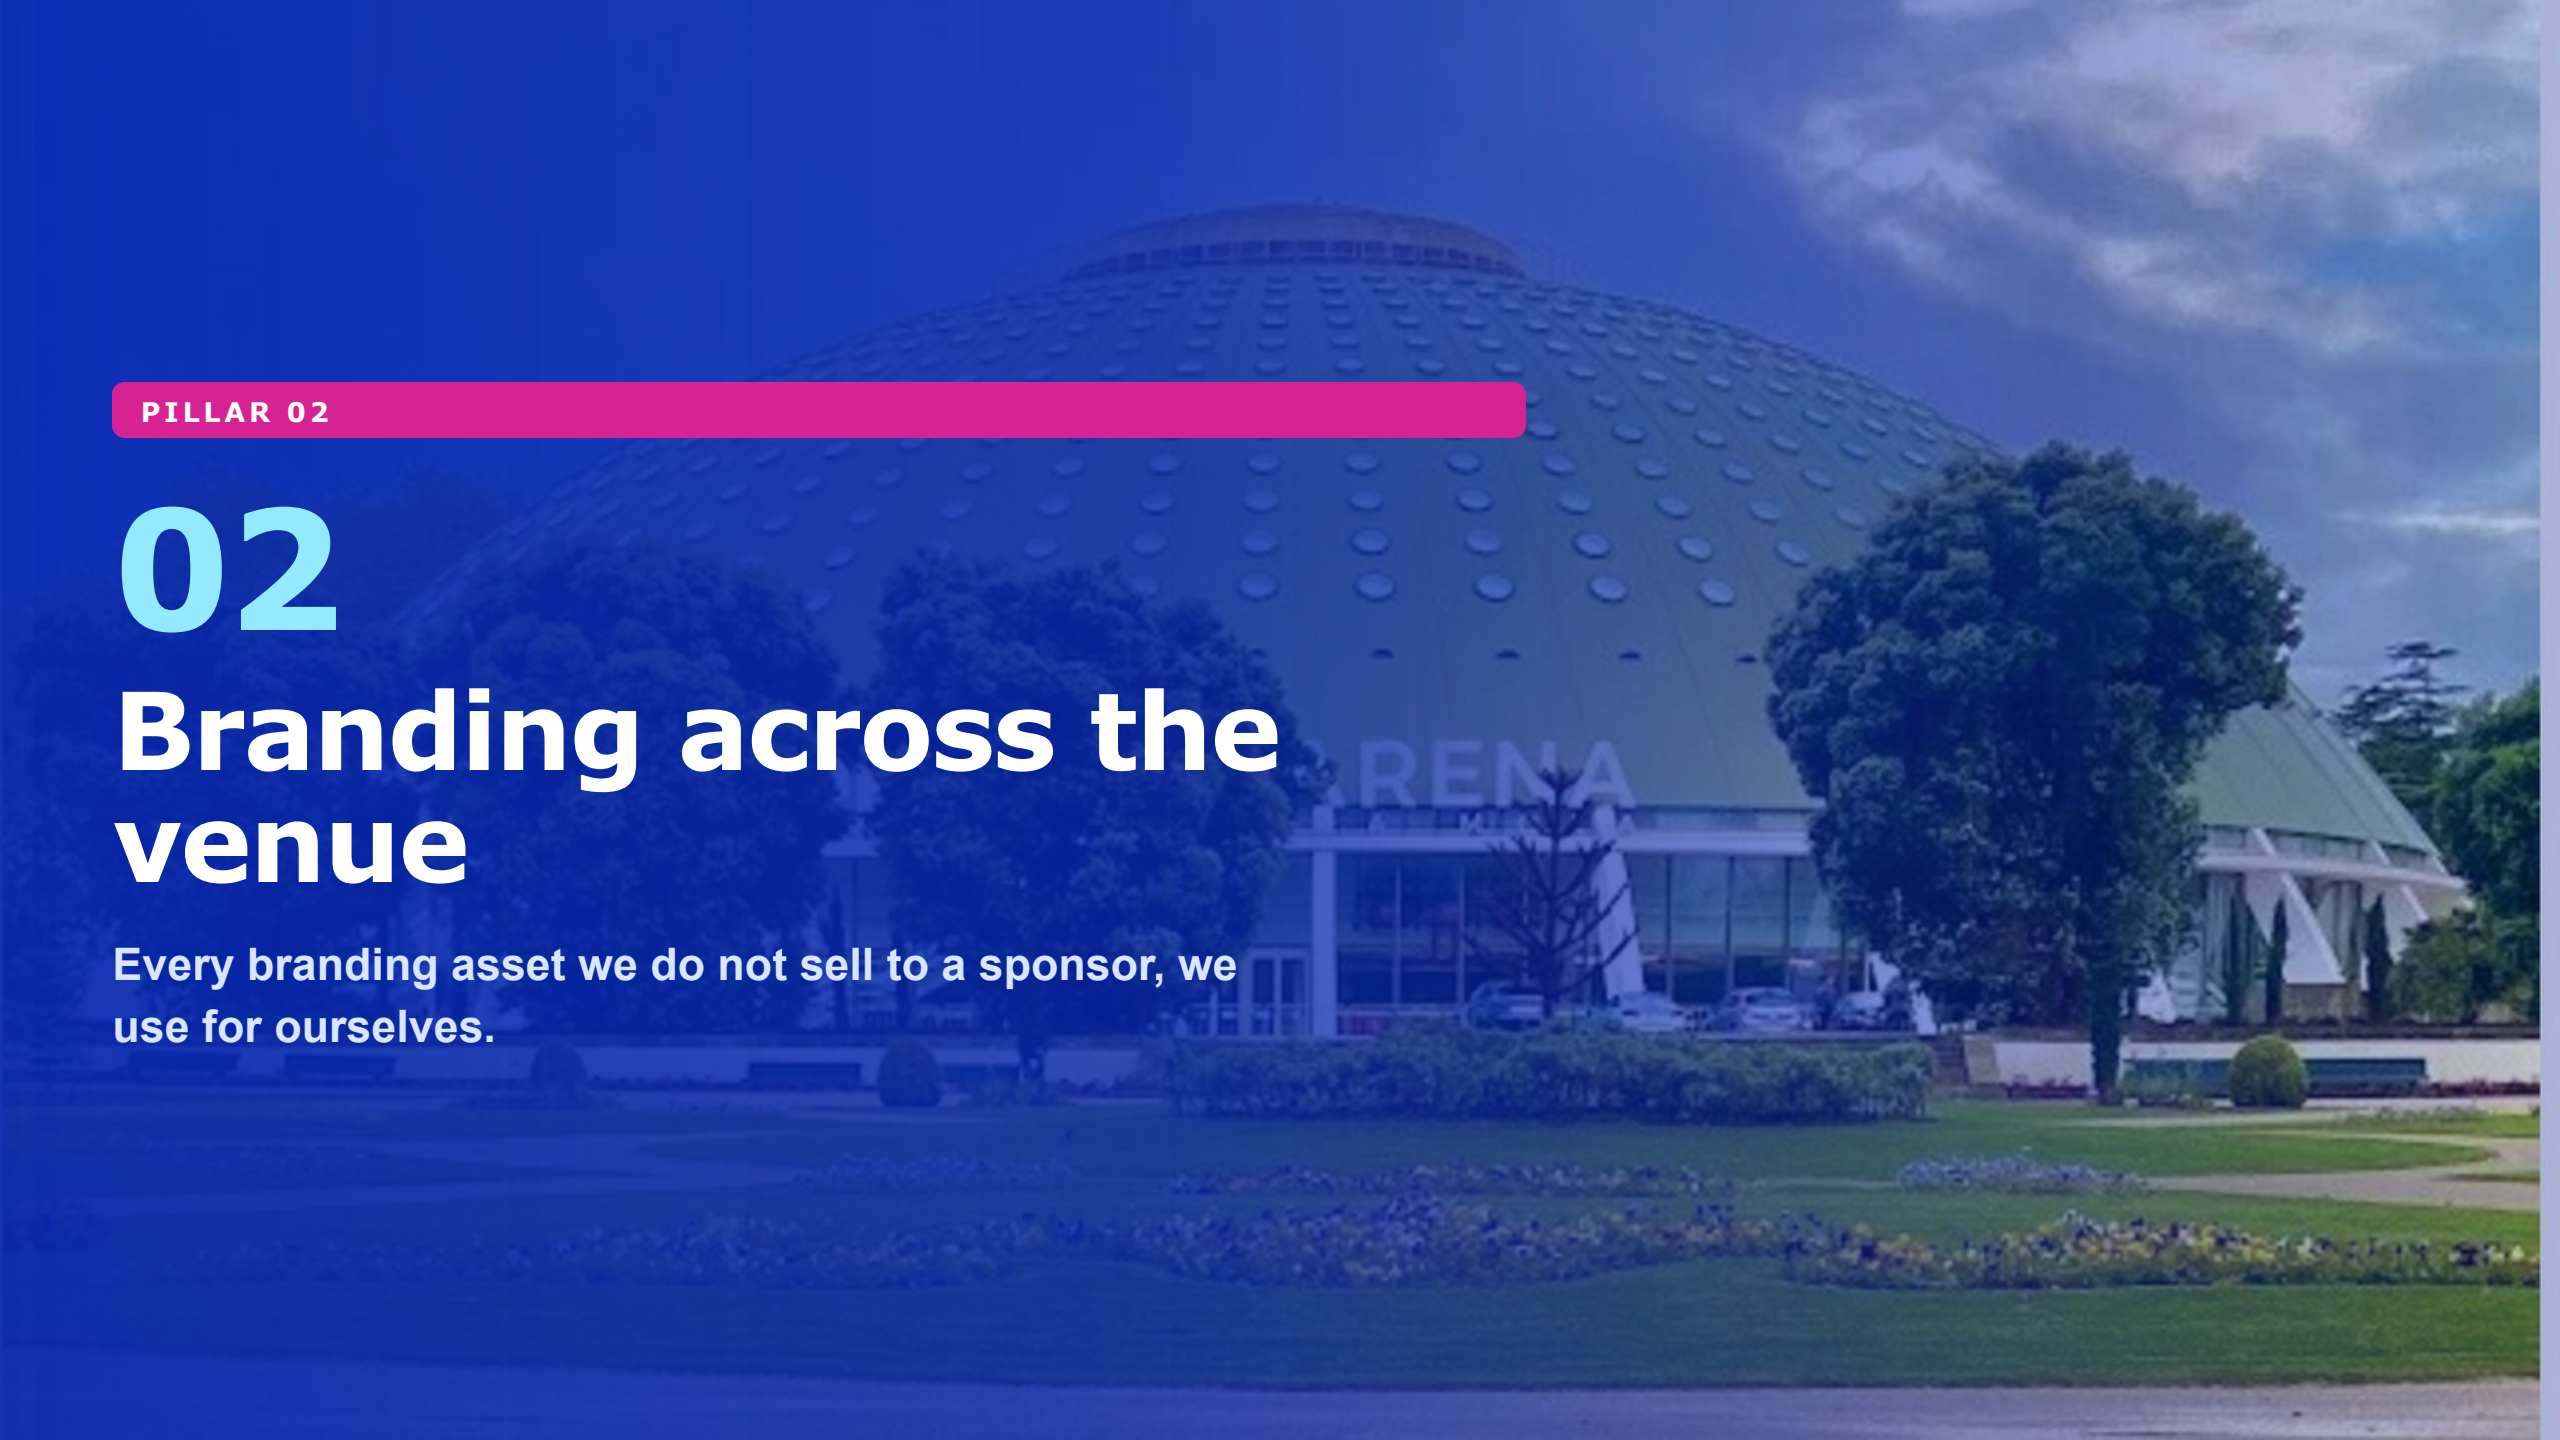

Merch and giveaways

Cheap high-volume items for everyone, plus a few desirable prizes worth playing for. Also feeds the welcome kit, lanyards and bottles.

Open questions for the team

- What budget do we have for merch and giveaways?
- Can we run a wheel of fortune, a game or something similar?
Who builds it, who runs it on the day?
- Who owns the Instax flow: shooting, posting, tagging?
- Which prizes are worth playing for, and how many of each?

PILLAR 02

02

Branding across the venue

Every branding asset we do not sell to a sponsor, we use for ourselves.

Every unsold asset becomes ours

The prospectus prices show what each asset is worth. Whatever is left at the sales deadline carries our name

Check-in area

Banner or printed backdrop. The first thing everyone sees. Ours by right as the legal entity.

Not for sale

Side room naming

One parallel-sessions room carries our name on the agenda, the app and the door.

EUR 1,000 value

Lounge naming

The chill-out area on Piso 0 becomes the xgeeks Lounge, with a high table and a hook.

New asset, ours

Wifi network

Network name and password are ours, announced at the opening and displayed across the venue.

EUR 1,500 value

Lanyards

Our logo around every neck, in every hallway conversation and every photo, for two days.

EUR 2,000 value

Barista and coffee

A barista serves coffee all day, every day. If no sponsor closes it, xgeeks sponsors it.

EUR 1,500 value

Sponsor room (foyer)

"Sponsor room brought to you by synvert xgeeks" at the foyer entrance.

EUR 2,000 value

Water bottles

Conference design plus "sponsored by synvert xgeeks" if the bottles stay unsold.

Swag-tier asset

Decision point: at the sponsor sales deadline we claim whatever is left. No asset goes unbranded.

Check-in: the first thing people see

A banner or printed backdrop behind registration, positioning us as the legal entity behind KCD Porto

WELCOME TO KCD PORTO X DEVOPS DAYS PORTUGAL
2026

KCD Porto and DevOps Days Portugal Organised by synvert xgeeks

synvert xgeeks
a Synvert GL Company

- Behind the registration desks, in every arrival photo and every badge-pickup queue.
- Keep it subtle if needed: the KCD and DevOps Days logos stay the heroes, our line sits underneath.
- Same print can move to the press wall in the foyer after the morning rush.

Wording options, from subtle to explicit

A Welcome to KCD Porto and DevOps Days Portugal / A synvert xgeeks event

Subtle

B KCD Porto and DevOps Days Portugal / Organised by synvert xgeeks

Balanced, suggested for the backdrop

C synvert xgeeks / The company behind KCD Porto and DevOps Days Portugal

Direct

D synvert xgeeks, the legal entity behind KCD Porto and DevOps Days Portugal

Explicit, the original proposal

"/" marks a line break on the print. The subtle version works if the KCD and DevOps Days logos must stay the heroes of the backdrop.

The assets everyone touches

A room with our name, a wifi everyone types, a lanyard everyone wears

SIDE ROOM NAMING

The synvert xgeeks Room

Sala 1, parallel sessions and workshops

- Every parallel session in that room is announced with our name, both days: agenda, app, door sign, session slides.
- Pick the room with the most business-relevant track.

WIFI NETWORK

synvert-xgeeks

password (all lowercase, no spaces)
itworksonmycluster

- Announced at the opening session and displayed across the venue. 500+ people type our name on day one and reconnect on day two.
- Alternatives: xgeeks-KCDPorto2026 / cloudnativeporto, or synvert-xgeeks / poweredbyxgeeks.

synvert xgeeks | synvert xgeeks

- Lanyard sponsor: our logo around every neck, in every hallway conversation and every photo, for two days.
- Pairs with the welcome kit swag: our items in everyone's hands from minute one.

The xgeeks Lounge

Piso 0, the pink area with the sofas and the poufs, where everyone goes to breathe between sessions

Official venue plan, Piso 0 (05/2026). Highlighted: the lounge area with sofas and poufs, next to the Silver stands and coffee stations.

Freestanding totem

"xgeeks Lounge" at the entrance of the area. Anchors the name where people walk in.

Hanging banner

Along the curved wall behind the sofas. Visible from the stairs and the whole concourse.

Rollups

One at each end of the area. Cheap, reusable at the next meetup.

Floor decals and table tents

Arrows on the floor from the stairs, name cards on the coffee stations next to the sofas.

There will be no plaque with the room name. If we want the name to exist, we create the visual asset that spreads it around ourselves.

Not on the list: branded cushions or logos on the poufs. Too expensive for what they add.

Name options

xgeeks Lounge | The xgeeks Living Room | The xgeeks Cooldown

Suggested: totem at the entrance plus one rollup at the far end. One anchors the name, the other lands in every photo taken on the sofas.

A high table in the lounge, with a business hook

The lounge sponsored by xgeeks: people sit down to rest, and we give them a reason to start a conversation

A Grab a coffee, take a seat, and let's talk about how we can grow your business

Original proposal. 16 words: readable, but the smallest type of the set

B Take a seat, the coffee is on us. So is the honest advice.

Suggested: short, warm, business without the pitch

C The xgeeks Lounge, your agenda. Cloud, data, AI, or just a quiet coffee.

D Sit down with the people who run KCD Porto. Your roadmap, our experience, free coffee.

- Same high table format as the booth, so one print job covers both.
- Someone from the team should be in the lounge during coffee breaks: the hook opens the door, a person walks through it.

Coffee, the busiest spot in any conference

A barista serves coffee all day, every day. If no sponsor closes it, xgeeks sponsors it

COFFEE CORNER

Low latte-ncy, high availability.

Coffee sponsored by synvert xgeeks
a Synvert GL Company

- The barista corner has a constant queue: the highest dwell time anywhere in the venue.
- The package includes a rollup at the coffee point and branding on the table. We make the rollup memorable with a good pun.

Pun options for the rollup

A Low latte-ncy, high availability.
Suggested: instantly readable by the whole audience

B Coffee: the original continuous delivery.

C Open a pour request.

D kubect! get coffee. Status: Ready.

E Single or double? We say replicas: 2.

F xpresso yourself.
Plays on the x of xgeeks

The sponsor room carries our name

The foyer is a mandatory passage area. We put our name on its door, and on the water in everyone's hand

- Every attendee crosses the foyer to reach the auditorium and the side rooms.
- All 20+ sponsors exhibit inside a room that is brought to them by us. The sign says it at the door.

SIGN AT THE FOYER ENTRANCE

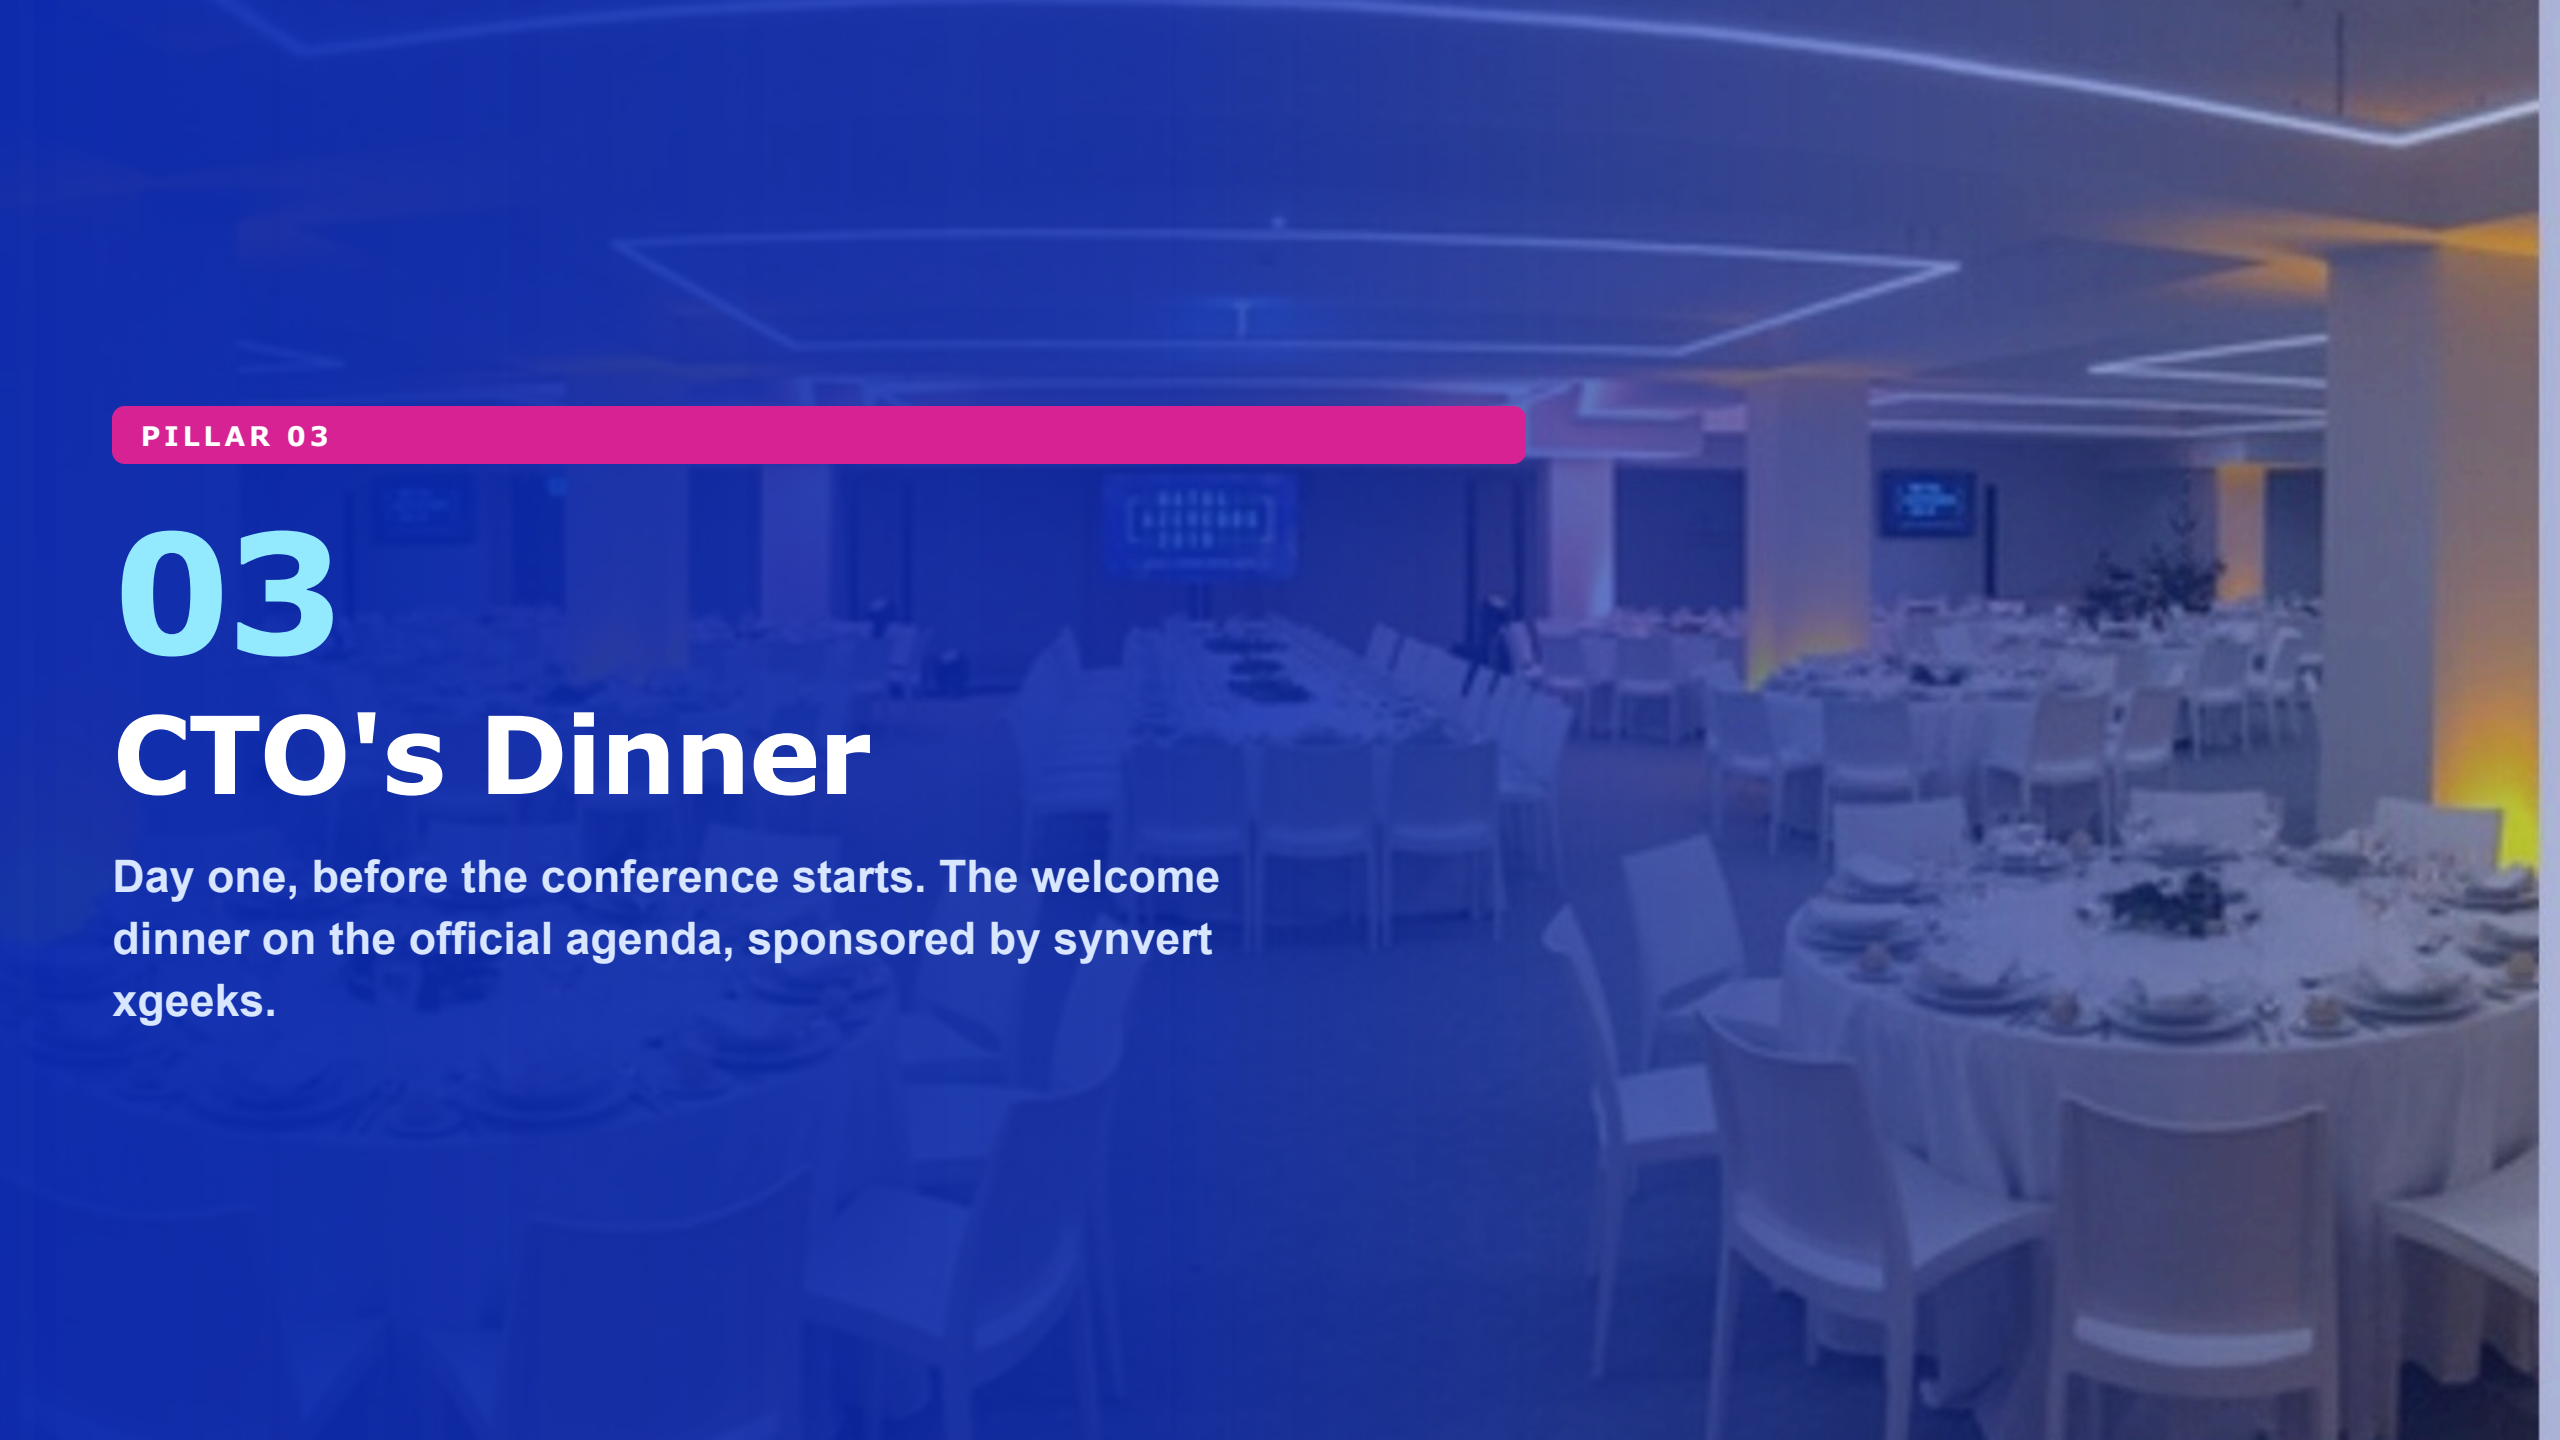

SPONSOR ROOM
BROUGHT TO YOU BY SYNVERT XGEEKS

Water bottles

If the water sponsorship stays unsold, the bottles keep the conference design and add one line:
sponsored by synvert xgeeks.

Hydration with our name on it, in every hand and every session photo.

The background image shows a large, modern conference hall with numerous round tables covered in white cloths, each set with white plates, glasses, and cutlery. The room has a high ceiling with recessed lighting and large pillars. A blue overlay covers the left side of the image, where the text is placed.

PILLAR 03

CTO's Dinner

Day one, before the conference starts. The welcome dinner on the official agenda, sponsored by synvert xgeeks.

CTO's Dinner, sponsored by synvert xgeeks

The official welcome dinner of the conference, on day one, before the doors open

- It goes on the official agenda as the welcome dinner of the conference, with our name attached as sponsor.
- Business development: the highest-value people of the event, CTOs, VPs and decision-makers, in one room before anyone has seen a booth. Relaxed setting, no competing talks, no queue.
- As hosts, we set the table: guest list, seating and warm introductions are ours to design. Curated intros are the shortest path to the 10+ leads target.
- Stakeholders: for GL, Hitachi and Synvert leadership it is the clearest proof that this event is ours. They arrive as guests of honour, not as visitors.
- Sponsors' Platinum to Bronze packages include a "Sponsors and Special Guest Dinner" on day one. This is that dinner, and we are the host.

Day 1

Before the conference starts

The first touchpoint of KCD Porto 2026 is ours.

10+

Leads start here

Seats are our best-qualified conversations of the event.

Business development and stakeholder trust, closed over dinner before day one begins.

Open decisions and next steps

What the team needs to close, and who owns each piece

DECISION	NEXT STEP	OWNER
Booth size and layout	Confirm the footprint with the venue (4x3m or wider), two tables, one or two screens, high table position	TBD
Print new vs reuse	Quote the backdrop cover strip, the TV frame and two table front panels with the new design; reuse everything else	TBD
Giveaway budget and game	Set the merch and prizes budget; choose wheel of fortune, game or raffle; decide who builds and runs it	TBD
Unsold assets we claim	Track sponsor sales; at the deadline claim lounge, side room, wifi, lanyards, barista, sponsor room sign and water	TBD
Check-in banner wording	Pick one of the four options (subtle to explicit) and confirm placement with the registration team	TBD
Lounge name and asset	Choose the name, the totem or banner, the high table hook; brief the print supplier	TBD
Booth hooks and barista pun	Pick one business and one technical hook, and the coffee rollup pun	TBD
Instax and social flow	Who shoots, who posts, who tags; camera, film and printed frame ordered	TBD
CTO's Dinner	Venue, budget, guest list, seating plan and the agenda slot on day one	TBD

All eyes on us. Let's make it ours.
